Midwest Foodbank: We share the love of Christ by alleviating hunger and malnutrition locally and throughout the world. We serve non-profit organizations such as food pantries, soup kitchens, homeless shelters, churches and other non-profit organizations helping their community. Each month, a certain amount of time is set aside at each location for distribution. During that period, organizations can come pick up food from a Midwest Food Bank location which they then distribute to people in their communities. In times of tragedy, we provide disaster relief through our network of food distribution and logistics across the country.
